Please delete lines 29-36 on page ~~30~~⁸ of the specification. Please replace the final paragraph on page ~~30~~⁸ with the following paragraph

D²
In another embodiment of the invention, antibodies or fragments thereof against the LS149 antigen can be used to detect or image localizations of the antigen in a patient for the purpose of detecting or diagnosing a disease or condition. Such antibodies can be polyclonal or monoclonal, or made by molecular biology techniques, and can be labeled with a variety of detectable labels, including but not limited to radioisotopes and paramagnetic metals. Furthermore, antibodies or fragments thereof, whether monoclonal, polyclonal, or made by molecular biology techniques, can be used as therapeutic agents for the
